Another Free Land Craze

The 7,000 families camping along the Kansas boarder, waiting for the opening of the Cherokee strip, are repeating the folly of the people who flocked into Oklahoma.

Most of these settlers will have to mortgage everything they possess before they can build a house or turn a furrow, and in a year or two they will be complaining of hard times after the fashion of their unfortunate brethren in Nebraska and Dakota.

The pioneers who settle in a new country find out that it takes a generation to make their lands habitable, productive and valuable. They will find labor scarce and mortgages abundant. They will have to practice hard economy and give up many of the comforts of life. Free land in the wild west is sometimes more expensive than a farm in the east.

It is to be hoped that very few farmers in the South Atlantic states will turn their eyes in the direction of the Cherokee strip. They live in the finest region of the republic, and scientific agriculture and diversified crops will bring them more money than a big farm in a new country will yield for many years to come.

Free land is a delusion and a snare. It takes people among strangers in a wilderness, far from the markets and the conveniences of the older states, and the story of the first generation in a new country is a record of hardship and debt, of sickness and death. The young Georgian who is thinking of making a start in life, as a farmer, should stay where he is. He can buy land for cash or on time at a reasonable figure, and he will have the companionship and sympathy of his life-long friends and neighbors. If he puts brains into his work, he will get ahead in Georgia, and if he is one of the incapables he may rest assured that he would be handicapped in the Cherokee strip, or anywhere else.

The old idea of free lands in the west will not suit our new conditions. It is cheaper and more profitable to buy a farm in Georgia than to go to Oklahoma or the Cherokee strip and get one for nothing .- Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.

I have been in the business for a number of years, and am thankful for patronage I have received. I have learned the only way to do justice to myself and patrons is by the season, money or note at time of service, with privilege of return next year free should the mare fail to be in foalr Should the horse or jack die, or be sold, money or note to be refunded. This way it gives me something for the service of my stock, to the patron a show for his money, and enable me to stand my stock for a less fee.
